

Allies Name 24 for First Mass Trial

Rudolph Hess is Considered Able To Stand Trial With Associates

LONDON, Aug. 29.—(P)—Four major western Allies today named 24 Nazi leaders and Prussian military chiefs—among them Herman Goering, Rudolf Hess, Wilhelm Keitel and Karl Doenitz—as defendants in the first mass trial of Germany's arch criminals early in October.

The list furnished the first evidence that Hess, deputy fuhrer for all Nazi party affairs until 1941, when he made his sensational flight to England, was considered mentally able to stand trial with his one-time associates. Hess once was successor-designate to Hitler.

The list also included the name of Martin Bormann, Hitler's secretary. There had been no evidence previously of Bormann's whereabouts despite unconfirmed reports that he and Hitler had perished together. Bormann was Hess' successor as deputy party leader.

The full list follows:
Herman Wilhelm Goering, who was designated successor to Hitler in September, 1939, and directed the Nazi air offensive.

Rudolf Hess.
Joachim Von Ribbentrop, former champagne salesman who directed Nazi intrigue in half a dozen European capitals as Germany's foreign minister.

Chief of Party
Robert Ley, chief of the Nazi party organization, commissioner for national housing, and chief of the German labor front.

Alfred Rosenberg, reich leader for ideology and foreign policy and propagandist who took leading role in anti-semitism in Germany.

Hans Frank, who was governor general of Poland and an S.S. general.

Ernst Kaltenbrunner, Hitler's right hand man, chief of the reich security department and chief of criminal police.

Wilhelm Frick, minister of interior and ruler of Bohemia and Moravia. He served in Hitler's secret cabinet council.

Julius Streicher, gauleiter of Franconia, editor of Der Sturmer, notorious anti-semitic and a schoolmaster by profession.

Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the wehrmacht.

Head of Reichsbank
Dr. Walter Funk, president of the Reichsbank.

Hjalmar Schacht, minister of economics, commissioner of the four-year plan, and former president of the reichsbank.

Adm. Karl Doenitz, commander in chief of the navy, director of U-boat warfare, and the man who took over rule of Germany after Hitler was reported dead.

Baldur Von Schirach, chief of the reich youth movement and ruler of Vienna.

Fritz Sauckel, manpower commissioner.

Albert Speer, chief of the Todt organization, which used slave labor.

Martin Bormann, Hitler's secretary, deputy party leader, a general in the S.S. and S.A.

Ermer Ambassador
Franz Von Papen, former ambassador to Austria and Turkey.

Col. Gen. Alfred Gustav Jodl, chief of staff of the wehrmacht.

Constantin Von Neurath, reichsminister of foreign affairs until 1938, "protector" of Bohemia and Moravia for two years, and president of the secret cabinet council.

Dr. Arthur Seyss-Inquart, commissioner for the occupied Netherlands.

Adm. Erich Raeder, inspector of German navy and commander in chief of the navy from 1928 to 1933.

Ans Fritzsche, chief of the German radio propaganda service.

ustav Krupp Von Bohlen Und Drach, war industrialist.

Diplomatic Cops

CENTRALIA, Ill., Aug. 29.—(P)—A police squad responded to a call from a person who reported a group of boys were engaged in a free-for-all fight.

The officers made a report back to the station:

"It was not police business in as much as the Southtown Commandos were fighting the Japs."

Ration Board Reduction of Four Clerks

The trimming of the War Price and Rationing Board, under the OPA, will begin immediately. Notices of reduction are to be mailed this week and the Pettis county board's reduction is expected to be four clerks.

However, the cut is not expected to affect but two clerks at the present time, inasmuch as two have resigned to accept other positions. Miss Elizabeth McClure, clerk of the fuel board, has resigned and accepted a position with the United States Unemployment service and Miss Tracy Berry, tendered her resignation the first of the month to become effective as of September 15th.

James Franks, chief clerk of the local board, said today that with the two resignations only two other clerks will be relieved of their duties. "The reduction is due to the liquidation of the rationing boards throughout the country," Mr. Franks said.

The names of those whose services will be terminated have not been announced. They will receive official notice from the district office at Kansas City.

The local price and rationing board offices will be closed on Saturdays and holidays in accordance with an announcement made recently. Although no official word has been received at the local office, this rule will apply to the local board, according to information received through a telephone conversation with Clarence Short, district representative, who talked with Mr. Franks.

Plane Strikes, Kills Three

CARLSBAD, N. M., Aug. 29.—Sheriff Fred Hill reported a light plane struck and killed two women and a small girl here last night as they were walking across a runway at Tracy Field, a private airport.

He identified the dead as: Mrs. J. B. Rauch, about 26, wife of a Carlsbad dentist.

Mrs. George Rauch, Jr., about 28, her sister-in-law, whose husband is employed by a local laundry.

Peggy Rauch, about 6, daughter of Mrs. George Rauch, Jr.

Sheriff Hill said they were killed about 9:40 p. m. (CWT) as the plane came in for a landing. He identified the pilot as Joe Sides, a civil air patrol flier here.

The sheriff said he was told the three had been at the field watching other planes take off and land. Further details were not immediately available.

May Make Complete Report on Elliott's Affairs
WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(P)—The full report on investigations into Brig. Gen. Elliott Roosevelt's financial affairs may be made public shortly.

A spot poll of the House Ways and Means committee indicated today a majority favors that action. It was requested in a telegram to the committee yesterday from the late president's son.

Wainwright is Tired But in Good Spirits

Happy to Hear From Wife, Anxious For Word From Son

By Donald Huth

CHUNGKING, Aug. 29.—(P)—Lt. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, in excellent spirits after his trip here from Manchuria, looked forward eagerly today to seeing at the final surrender ceremonies in Tokyo some of the Japanese commanders who accepted with pompous arrogance the capitulation of his heroic American band at Corregidor.

In particular he hoped to see at the scene of Japan's complete humiliation the one-time commander-in-chief of Japanese forces in the Philippines—Gen. Masaharu Homma. Homma was a ruthless victor and an arrogant one.

"Gen. Wainwright told me that he hoped that Japanese Gen. Homma, to whom he surrendered at Corregidor, is present when the Japanese sign the surrender," said Col. James H. S. Rasmussen of Phoebus, Va., pilot of the plane which brought Wainwright to Chungking from Mukden.

The men who accompanied Wainwright from Mukden, where he had been taken by the Russians after his liberation from the Manchurian prison camp, spoke admiringly of their passenger.

Book Trip Like Veteran
Col. Rasmussen said the general displayed an avid interest in aviation during the trip to Chungking, and Capt. H. E. Suiko of Menominee, Wis., said the general took the rough flying trip like a veteran airman.

"Gen. Wainwright said he couldn't realize he was free when we met him at Mukden," Suiko said.

(Editor's note: The following account of a Wainwright press conference in Chungking yesterday was delayed in transit, being received in New York more than 20 hours after it was written.)

Wainwright faced a group of correspondents at Wednesday's headquarters and was introduced by the China commander, who said:

"I know you will all share my happiness in the return of Gen. Wainwright. He is happy to appear before you and answer your questions. He is tired, as all these other men are. I know you will spare him as much as you can."

Wainwright stood, spoke quickly, and when he was finished, left the room.

He Told The Correspondents:
"About ten days ago I was contacted in the prison camp roughly in Central Manchuria, by an American officer, one of a small team which Gen. Wedemeyer had very generously sent to get in touch with me. We had a great deal of difficulty getting out of that little place. In fact, we finally got out under an escort provided by some Russian troops, and from there were able to join some 1,500 to 1,600 American officers and enlisted men concentrated in Mukden."

"We had a pretty rough trip there. We were about 60 hours on the road, first riding some rough trucks that shook us a good deal, then 30 hours on a train which must have stood still ten hours for every hour it got."

"But when we got to Mukden my troubles were over the top. Gen. Wedemeyer had very kindly sent two planes to bring us here and we arrived this afternoon."

"Here I am, perhaps looking pretty old, but I assure you feeling 20 years younger than I did ten days ago."

First Report To Truman
"Now, ladies and gentlemen, I don't feel at liberty to go into the details of the campaigns of Luzon, Bataan and Corregidor. As I say, I don't feel at liberty to go into detail until I have made my report to the war department. I don't feel I should go into details here which might enable the chief of staff to see my information in newspapers before he receives my personal report so I must report to Washington before I give you any details."

"I feel that it is my duty to take this stand. I might say that yesterday in Sian I had a radio from my dear wife, the first one I've had in a year and a half. And today when I arrived, Gen. Wedemeyer handed me a radiophoto of her with a message written on it in longhand. You know how I felt about that. Now when I hear of my boy, I'll feel all right. He is a sea captain and has been handling troops back and forth across the North Atlantic for the past few years. I haven't heard a thing from him yet."

"I think that's all I have to say. Thank you."

They Just Hadn't Heard Anything About the Marines

WITH THE THIRD FLEET OFF YOKOHAMA, Aug. 29.—(P)—The United States Marines shouldn't read this—or maybe it was just an oversight.

A warship drew up before Yokohama today, plainly visible on a factory roof was a sign painted by the Japanese. The sign read:

"Three cheers for the U. S. Navy and Army."

Publishers Submit to Arbitration

Send Officer to Presidents of St. Louis Unions

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 29.—(P)—Publishers of the three St. Louis daily newspapers which suspended publication two weeks ago following a strike of 200 AFL carriers, said today they have offered to submit to arbitration a dispute over pay for employees who have been laid off.

The offer was sent to presidents of the unions of compositors, stereotypers, photo engravers and mailers, and Newspaper Guild. It provides for basic pay for the employees through August 31 with the question of pay thereafter until settlement of the strike to be submitted to a board of five members, one to be chosen by the guild (CIO), one by the other unions (AFL), two by the publishers, and the fifth by the senior judge of the Eighth Circuit, United States Court of Appeals.

Adolph Rahm, guild president, said the "guild would demand full pay for all time lost," adding that the contract with the publishers makes no provision for arbitration of such a dispute.

Suspended August 16
The newspapers, Post-Dispatch, Globe-Democrat, and Star-Times, suspended publication August 16 after pressmen refused to cross picket lines set up at the plants by the carriers, all adults in charge of newspaper routes. The publishers then advised all except a few members of their editorial and business office staffs that their services would not be needed until further notice.

The guild members charged they were locked out and said they would demand full pay for the lay-off period.

Meanwhile, the unions began making plans for publication of a newspaper during the strike period. Rahm said they now need only approval by the War Production board for an allotment of newsprint to start the publication which would be issued both morning and evening and offered for sale at downtown news stands.

Negotiations Halted
Negotiations between the carriers and publishers were halted last Friday after failure to reach an agreement on carrier demands for collective bargaining provisions to which the National Labor Relations Board held them to be eligible.

The publishers contend that the carriers are merchants, engaged in retail sale of the newspapers.

Maj. Boyington Reported Safe

ABOARD U.S.S. ANCON, Tokyo Bay, Aug. 29.—(P)—American land, sea and air forces thrilled today to the news that Maj. Gregory Boyington, 32-year-old holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor and Navy Cross for his daring exploits as a marine flyer, was alive. He had been missing more than 17 months.

The electrifying report of his safety was flashed from the American cruiser San Juan. Although details were lacking, it was believed the information came from a Japanese pilot guiding the ship into Tokyo bay, or from Yankee units outside the imperial city.

Officially credited with sending 26 enemy planes to their destruction in Pacific actions, Boyington nevertheless is believed by his Black Sheep squadron of Corsair pilots to have shot down at least 40.

He was last seen Jan. 3, 1944 tailing a Japanese plane into a cloud near Rabaul.

'Sammy' McGurgen Is Commissioned

"Sammy" McGurgen, who has been with the army engineers more than three years and over a year in the Philippine islands, has been appointed a lieutenant from the rank of staff sergeant, according to a cablegram received by his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth McGurgen, 236 South Montauque avenue, on Tuesday.

His message stated his appointment had been made direct and gave her a change of address. However he remains in Manila.

Army Board Names Marshall In Report On Pearl Harbor; Nimitz Arrives In Tokyo Bay

Will Shift His Five-Starred Flag To New USS Missouri On Sunday Morning

OKINAWA, Aug. 29.—(P)—Fleet Admiral Nimitz reached Tokyo Bay by seaplane this afternoon as General MacArthur waited at Okinawa for Thursday's mass occupation of vanquished Japan by 18,150 Allied troops from air and sea.

Naval officials already have inspected the Yokosuka naval base at close range and Tokyo radio said the Yokohama marine transport board building had been chosen as general headquarters for the occupation forces.

First American ship to dock at Yokosuka, task force commander Rear Adm. Oscar C. Badger said, will be the cruiser San Diego. He gave this tentative schedule of events:

British troops (250 Royal Marines, 200 Royal navy personnel) go ashore on two Tokyo-bay islands guarding Yokosuka at 6:15 a. m. Japan time (4:15 p. m. Wednesday, CWT) and Americans occupy a third islet.

Americans (9,000 Marines and 1,200 sailors) land at and near Yokosuka naval base about 10 a. m. Japan time (8 p. m. Wednesday, CWT).

Watching Guns
General MacArthur and his 7,500 airborne troops are expected at Atsugi airfield 20 miles southwest of Tokyo almost simultaneously.

American marine or bluejacket units may also board the wrecked Japanese battleship Nagato, at Yokosuka, Admiral Badger said—to make sure her guns won't fire.

Weather permitting, the cruiser San Diego will dock at Yokosuka about 10:30 a. m. (8:30 p. m. Wednesday, CWT).

Rear Adm. Robert B. Carney, Admiral Halsey's chief of staff, will accept occupation papers at Yokosuka on behalf of his commander; and Admiral Badger will supervise administration of the new American base.

Admiral Nimitz will shift his five-starred flag from the battleship South Dakota to the new USS Missouri early Sunday morning. Allied dignitaries will witness Japan's formal surrender there later Sunday.

Surrender on Missouri
Admiral Halsey, whose 16 inch battleship guns will cover the simultaneous seaborne landing at Yokosuka naval base, steamed into Tokyo bay aboard the proud battleship Missouri on which the surrender will be signed Sunday with Lt. Jonathan M. Wainwright hero of Corregidor, among the witnesses.

The Missouri was followed by a line of other warships including the battleships South Dakota, veteran of South Pacific battles and flagship of Admiral Nimitz and the British Duke of York, conqueror in the Atlantic of the German Scharnhorst and now flagship of Adm. Sir Bruce Fraser.

Other major units of the combined fleets lay across Miura peninsula in Sagami bay or stood in the Pacific ocean outside the bay, ready for instant action and to send their swarms of carrier planes to cover the joint landings.

To Patrol North Waters
Vice Adm. Frank Jack Fletcher's North Pacific naval force of escort carriers, cruisers and destroyers prepared to sail for Japan to join the occupation fleet. It will arrive after the landing of the 10,000 American and British marines and bluejackets at Yokosuka and probably will be assigned to patrol northern Japanese waters.

Japanese medical officers promised that when occupation forces land, 6,125 prisoners of war and 94 civilians interned would be released in the Tokyo area.

Among them, a fleet report said may be Maj. Gregory (Pappy) Boyington, holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor. The air hero of China and the South Pacific was reported alive, a step toward the fulfillment of his pledge to his flying mates before he was shot down over Rabaul to "see you in a San Diego" six months after the war is over.

Thrilled to Talk to Free Americans

By Al Dopking
ABOARD S. S. ICWA in TOKYO BAY, Aug. 29.—(P)—"Sure is a thrill to talk to free Americans again," a weak blinker light flashed from the shoreline near Yokohama last night to the American mine-sweeper Hambleton as American prisoners of war made their first contact with Adm. Oscar C. Badger's occupation forces.

Admiral Badger's 10,000 marines and bluejackets expect to liberate many Allied prisoners of war soon after landing tomorrow morning.

The blinker message last night was signed off "Lieut. Sherry." It said:

"One hundred thirty-one American, British, Aussie, Norwegian and Italian prisoners at Camp two. All well. Plenty of food now, thanks to you and other naval plane drops. Your arrival anxiously awaited."

The president, who called a special news conference to release the long awaited army and navy reports on the events leading up to Dec. 7, 1941, said he sided with Secretary of War Stimson in rejecting the findings as to Marshall.

The bulky three volume reports were sharply critical of Rear Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, Admiral Harold R. Stark and Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short.

Mr. Truman told reporters that if court martial proceedings were indicated prompt and fair trials would be held.

No Court Martials
But the army and navy reports clearly indicated that the service investigators do not feel that any court martial proceedings are warranted.

Secretary of War Stimson reaffirmed a statement made last year that the evidence "does not warrant the institution of any further proceedings against any officers of the army."

The navy's court of inquiry similarly concluded that the record "would not support the trial of general court martial of any person or persons in the naval service."

Report on Marshall
General Marshall, the army report said, "failed in his relations with the Hawaiian department in the following particulars:

"(A) To keep the commanding general of the Hawaiian department fully advised of the growing tenseness of the Japanese situation which indicated an increasing necessity for better preparation for war, of which information he had an abundance and Short had little."

"(B) To send additional instructions to the commanding general of the Hawaiian department on November 28, 1941, when evidently he failed to realize the import of General Short's reply of November 27th, which indicated clearly that General Short had misunderstood and misconstrued the message of November 17 (472) and had not adequately alerted his command for war."

"(C) To get to General Short on the evening of December 6th and the early morning of December 7th, the critical information indicating an almost immediate break with Japan, though there was ample time to have accomplished this."

"(D) To investigate and determine the state of readiness of the Hawaiian command between November 27 and December 7, 1941, despite the impending threat of war."

Truman Statement
Mr. Truman issued the following statement:

"I have here reports on the Pearl Harbor disaster. One is from the army and one is from the navy. The navy report gives a 'finding of facts' by a navy court of inquiry. Attached to this finding of facts are indorsements by the judge advocate general of the navy, Rear Admiral T. L. Gatch, Admiral E. J. King, chief of naval operations, and the secretary of the navy. You will find a summation of the findings in the final indorsement by the secretary of the navy at the end of the document."

"From the army we have the report of the army Pearl Harbor board and bound separately, a statement by the Secretary of War."

"Certain criticisms of the chief of staff, General Marshall, appear in report of the army Pearl Harbor board. You will notice in the secretary's statement, beginning on page 19, that he takes sharp issue with the criticism of General Marshall stating that the criticism is 'entirely unjustified.'"

"The conclusion of the secretary of war is that General Marshall acted throughout this matter with his usual 'great skill, courage and integrity.'"

Pacific Defense Lines for U. S. Security

Proposal by Gen. Henry H. Arnold for maintenance of a series of defense lines in the Pacific for U. S. security is receiving growing support in Congress. Latest proposal, by a House naval committee, would provide major fleet bases at Pearl Harbor, Guam, Saipan, Iloilo, Manus and Noumea, with a main naval air base at Mactan Island, secondary bases, fleet anchorages and land and sea plane bases on the other islands as shown. The whole would comprise chains of security far from U. S. shores.

Housewives Would Like Way Men on Board Clean 'Swabs'

By Hal Boyle

WITH HALSEY'S 3RD FLEET, Off Japan —(AP)—A navy pharmacist, aboard this big attack transport steaming toward a landing on the land of the Rising Sun, has solved the problem of how to cure a common head cold—but has little faith that mankind ever will adopt his remedy.

I told the pharmacist's mate, Lee Chase, Edmeston, N. Y., that I had picked up "the Pacific Snuffles" and he said:

"I know the only way to cure it. You have to do four things. Quit drinking, quit smoking, quit thinking about women and go to bed at dark every night."

"But you'll never cure it. I can't get people to do all four of those things. I've had a cold out here for a year myself."

Despite his pessimistic outlook on human frailty, Chase looked tan and fit from his long siege with the Pacific sun. He spoke of two brothers in the service.

"My brother is overseas, too," he grinned. "He is in Kentucky."

Housewives would envy the mop-leaning technique of the U. S. navy. Seaman second class Frank Zikind, Walnut Creek, Cal., stopped swabbing down decks long enough to explain it:

"In civilian life you'd call these just good old fashioned mops, but in the navy we call them swabs."

"When they get dirty, you just bundle three or four together, take a line and put a clove hitch around their necks, put on a couple of half hitches and heave them over the side."

"Sea water does the rest. It pounds them clean in 10 minutes."

The sailors say the sea certainly is a handy thing to have around the ship.

Most Marines were highly hopeful that the trip to Japan would be highly rewarding in souvenirs. Most of them desired Japanese pistols, Samurai swords and Japanese invasion money.

"We don't want any of that junk, though," said Yeoman second class E. L. Woods, Long Beach, Calif.

"I want one of those geisha girls—well nourished and with lots of Fahrenheit."

He was told that even if he found her, he would have to keep her in a glass cage. Orders were that there would be "positively no fraternizing."

The current oriental version of "The Man Who Came to Dinner" is big Dave Brown, marine writer who has been covering wars for Reuters news agency for almost three years.

When I ran into Dave for the first time since he left Algiers he immediately began lamenting the fact that he just had finished traveling 8,000 miles to get one meal.

"I flew 4,000 miles to Australia on my vacation," he said. "Things were quiet when I started but as soon as I reached Australia I heard about the atomic bomb and had to rush back. I only had time for dinner before catching the next plane."

Antiaircraft gunners notoriously have trouble drawing beads on fast flying enemy aircraft. Usually, they fail to aim far enough ahead of their target and their streams of bullets trail the plane as it speeds across the horizon.

The gunnery officer aboard this transport sought to correct that tendency by painting this sign on the splinter shield around each gun:

"For God's sake, lead 'em!"

Helps Reconvert

Lt. Gen. Levin H. Campbell, Jr., above, chief of Army Ordnance, is assistant to Reconversion Chief John W. Snyder in the nation's effort to speed industry's return to civilian production. General Campbell was assigned by Chief of Staff Gen. George Marshall at Mr. Snyder's "urgent request."

No One Knows Reaction of The Japanese

Problem is They Don't Know What Liberty Means

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The world is fortunate in that the American forces which are occupying Japan are seasoned veterans who, from Supreme Commander MacArthur down to the ranks, have learned much of Japanese mentality by hard experience.

Our success in reforming the Japs and making good global citizens of them depends heavily on the initial contact between these still medieval people and the first foreign troops ever to set foot on the Mikado's domains as conquerors. It's a great adventure into the unknown, for while Japanese officers were "polite as pie" to the American airborne spearhead of occupation yesterday yet nobody—not even the harassed Tokyo government—knows how the people of Nippon as a whole will respond to the policing of their homeland.

Thus far it appears that the Japanese military and the government realize full well their country is beaten into impotence. That's the very excellent state in which we want it for a start—but while this is an essential step in the reformation of Japan, the real change will come through education and not through manhandling. That's why the relationship established in the early days of the occupation is so vital.

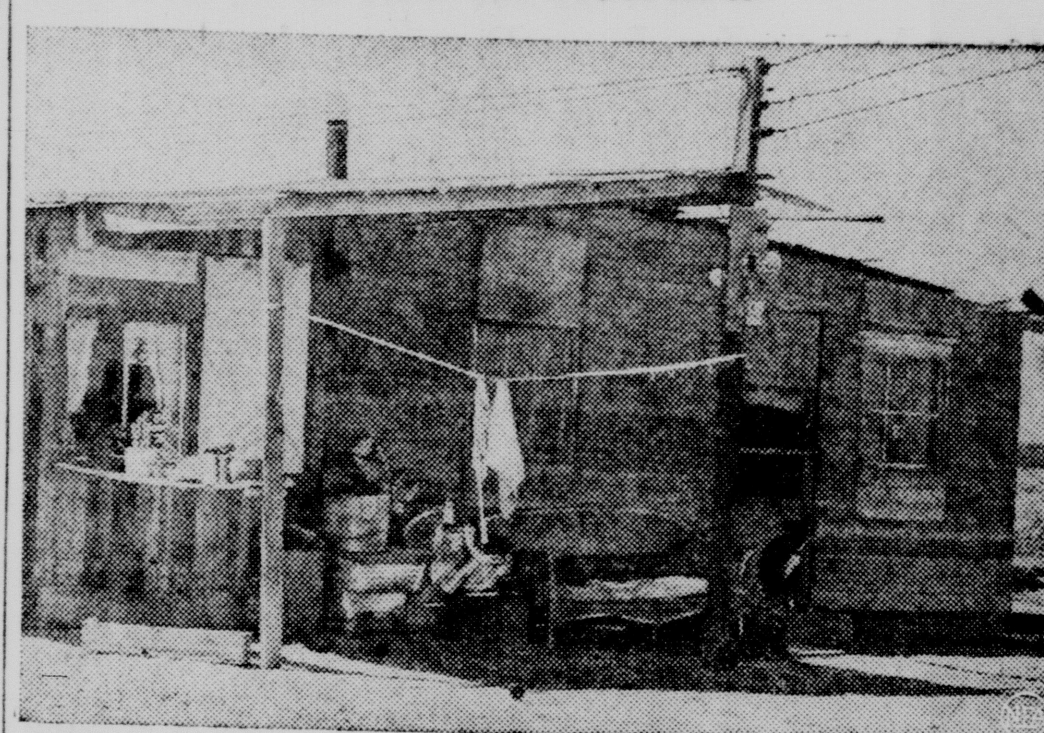

Command Qualified
Certainly the qualifications of our high command leave nothing to be desired. MacArthur has had a long and varied experience in the Orient. Lt. General Robert Eichelberger, commander of the U. S. Eighth Army which will occupy the Tokyo area, is a Far Eastern specialist and has had close contact with the Japanese for nearly a generation. We may be sure that the lesser officers have been selected with extreme care.

It's vastly encouraging to see that while MacArthur is proceeding firmly he also is moving with extreme care. Of course this procedure is being followed in part as a safeguard against possible hostile demonstrations by disgruntled militarists or fanatics, but indications are that the commander is equally concerned with the first impressions created in Japan by his forces.

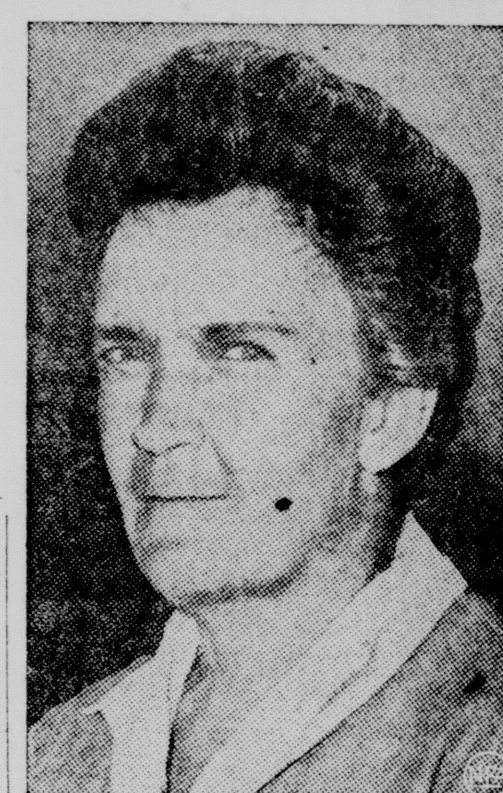

MacArthur Prepared
As regards the danger of sporadic attacks on our men by misguided Japanese elements, MacArthur is in position to deal with anything and everything through the tremendous Allied striking-power at his disposal. The naval fleet which is lying off Tokyo is the greatest ever assembled, and with a wave of the hand he could unleash far more air strength against Japan than has yet been seen in action anywhere.

Still, while all these precautions have been taken, and the Japan-

Kindness Wins its Reward

Reward for a favor she had forgotten is in store for Mrs. Marie Dyer, right. Victor J. Byrne of Los Angeles had conducted a nationwide hunt for Mrs. Dyer so that he could write his will to "leave her my entire estate for her kindness to me when I was a poor, discharged soldier in Chicago." The search ended at Mrs. Dyer's ramshackle desert cabin (above) near Tucson, Arizona.

ese government is showing every evidence of anxiety to cooperate wholly, the danger of trouble does exist. This in itself is a good answer to critics who are demanding why the Allies haven't already started cracking down on the Japanese militarists, some of whom appear to be in the government.

Japan Will Be Punished
If these critics don't rock the boat we shall reach shore much quicker and in greater comfort. We may be quite sure that Japanese militarism is to be utterly crushed, as is being done in Germany, and that many war criminals will be walking their last mile before long. And Japan as a whole will be punished for her aggression.

These things are easy of achievement as compared with the task of reformation. Dealing with this aspect of the situation the London News Chronicle points out that for all the modernization of Japan, the nation in the main still remains feudal. Despite her imitation of what appears great in other countries, such as parliamentary institutions from Britain and technological ideas from America, Nippon is a country of 90,000,000 people who don't know what real liberty means. That, says the Chronicle, is our greatest problem.

Traffic Death Toll Higher

CHICAGO, Aug. 29—(P)—After the slight easing of gasoline restrictions last June 22, the nation's July traffic death toll rose 13 per cent over the same month in 1944, the National Safety council said today.

July traffic deaths were 2,030, making a total of 13,190 for the first seven months of 1945. Despite the increase of deaths throughout the country, 232 cities reported perfect records for July. Largest was Providence, R. I., with a population of 253,500; second was Norfolk, Va., with 252,000, and third was Omaha, Neb., with 223,800.

For the seven-month period 78 cities reported perfect records. In the 10,000-25,000 class was Independence, Mo.

Men of 35th Sail Sept. 5

LONDON, Aug. 29—(P)—Men of the 35th division, veterans of five major campaigns, are to return to the United States on the SS Queen Mary which sails September 5 from Southampton for New York, army headquarters announced today.

In ten months of combat, the 35th division served with five U. S. armies and captured 35,000 Germans. Units of the 35th fought through to reach the 101st airborne division surrounded at Bastogne in the Ardennes last December. The division originally was composed of National Guards from Kansas, Nebraska and Missouri. Maj. Gen. Paul W. Baade, Fort Wayne, Ind., is its commander.

Army Board Names Marshall in Report on Pearl Harbor energy and efficiency. I associate myself wholeheartedly with this expression by the secretary of war.

"Indeed I have the fullest confidence in the skill, energy and efficiency of all our war leaders, both army and navy."

(End text)
Short and Kimmel were the army and navy commanders at Pearl Harbor when the Japanese struck their surprise blow there. Admiral Stark was chief of naval operations at the time.

Error of Judgment
In his report Secretary Stimson said that while Admiral Kimmel and General Short "were on very friendly terms and in frequent communication, the exchange of information as well as consultation in other respects at Hawaii between the army and navy was inadequate."

Stimson declared that the underlying cause of the error of judgment which permitted the sneak attack "was General Short's confidence that Japan would not then attack Pearl Harbor."

The secretary asserted that since the war plans division and other activities of the general staff were under the general direction of Marshall, the army Pearl Harbor board had been led to criticize Marshall as being responsible "for some of the shortcomings of the officers of the general staff."

Failed to Alert
The Pearl Harbor board attributed the extent of the Pearl Harbor disaster primarily to what it called failure of the commanding general of the Hawaiian department "adequately to alert his command for war," and to failure of the war department to direct him to take an adequate alert and to keep him advised on developments of the United States-Japanese peace talks then under way.

Hundred Boys Make Escape

ELDORA, Ia., Aug. 29—(P)—One hundred boys escaped today from the Eldora State Training School for Boys following a riot in the dining room of the main building at noon. The highway patrol and all law enforcement officers of surrounding counties were notified, but none of the escapees was apprehended immediately.

O. S. Von Krog, superintendent of the institution, could not be reached for a statement on what prompted the riot but Darrel T. Brown, assistant superintendent, said, "I cannot give any specific reasons but there has been a spirit of general unrest apparent for some time."

P. F. Hopkins and David R. McCreery, members of the state board of control, which has jurisdiction over the institution, visited the school this morning and were conducting an investigation of the disturbance.

The latest tabulation showed there were 538 boys in the institution last month.

Ford Gives Truman a Car

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29—(P)—Henry Ford 2nd presented President Truman today with a 1946 two-door, grayish-cream deluxe sedan.

The presentation was made on the White House grounds and the president obviously was delighted.

He was particularly pleased with a spotlight, telling photographers "the sheriff wouldn't let me have a spotlight before."

Examining the car with care he remarked at another point "I won't have any trouble getting Margaret back here now."

He referred to his daughter who has been spending the summer at the Truman home in Independence, Mo.

Harvey Richardson, arrested at his home north of Houstonia, Mo., Tuesday by Sheriff Ed Goetz and Deputy Adolph Glenn on a charge of issuing a bogus check, is being held in the county jail. His hearing before Justice of the Peace A. M. Harlan, has not been set.

They're Rolling Right Along, Ladies

'Bud' Thomas in All-American Game

NEW YORK, Aug. 29—(P)—Sixteen-year-old Curtis Simmons, of Egypt, Pa., early today was honored as the all-American boy of the annual Esquire all-American boys baseball game at the Polo Grounds.

Simmons, who helped Babe Ruth's East team gain a 5-4 triumph over Ty Cobb's West outfit before 23,617 fans last night, was presented with a trophy at a party at 2:30 a. m. He pitched the first four innings, then was shifted to the outfield for the last five. His triple in the ninth started a three-run rally that won the game. The lanky club dove in one run and Simmons scored the tying run a minute later.

John Thomas, Sedalia, Mo., was in the West lineup at shortstop most of the game. At bat three times, he went hitless, but made two putouts and three assists. Mickey Cummins, catcher from Kansas City, failed to break into the game for the West because of a finger injury.

The score by innings:

West 004 000 000—4 7 1
East 000 200 003—5 9 4

Find Negro Hunted a Year

It took a year to locate an alleged check writer, but today Sergeant Cecil Smith and Officer William Hatfield are going to Ft. Leavenworth, Kas., to pick up George Russell, Negro who is being held there for local officers.

Russell is charged with giving a bogus check in the amount of $10 to the Howard Roberts grocery in August 1944. The warrant held by local officers was dated August 26, 1944. The Negro waived his extradition to Missouri and will be returned to Sedalia late this evening.

His whereabouts were "tipped off" to local officers by a Johnson county resident. He is the son of Jim Russell being held in the Johnson county jail in connection with the murder of a Negro soldier from the Sedalia Army Air Field, at Knob Noster, recently.

Dies at Home After A Long Illness

Mrs. Mary Jane Williams died at her home, 513 West Jefferson street, Tuesday night following a long illness.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Camille Smith and two granddaughters, Mary Ellen Smith and Estelle Ruth Miller, all of the home.

The body is at the Ferguson funeral home. Complete arrangements for the funeral have not been made.

Lions Club Meets At Noon Today

The Sedalia Lions club held its regular noon day meeting at the Bothwell Hotel today with Adolph Glenn, president, presiding. The meeting was turned over to a round table discussion, at which time matters of club importance were brought up.

S/Sgt. Russell R. Conn, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Conn, Sr., 820 West Third street, was a guest of his father at the meeting.

Stokowski and Bride On Delayed Honeymoon

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29—(P)—Leopold Stokowski and his bride, the former Gloria Vanderbilt Di Cicco, will take a delayed honeymoon trip to South America early next month.

Stokowski, who has been in charge of Hollywood Bowl concerts this season, said last night he was scheduled to conduct concerts for the City Center orchestra of New York at the end of the bowl series but that Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York had given him a leave of absence.

Port of Hong Kong Clears One-Third Of The Foreign Trade Entering China

Billboards advertising British whiskey, American movies and Chinese merchandise give an international commercial flavor to this street in Hong Kong.

By HENRY NOBLE HALL (Written for NEA)

President Roosevelt had no little trouble smoothing the ruffled feathers of Chiang Kai-shek at the Cairo Conference after Prime Minister Churchill had bluntly refused even to discuss the return of Hong Kong to China after the war.

It is significant that Ernest Bevin, the new Foreign Secretary of the British Labor government, sees eye to eye on this question with the man who declared that he had not accepted office as His Majesty's Prime Minister in order to preside at the liquidation of the British Empire.

But for Hong Kong there never would have been a Chinese Republic. Sun Yat-sen, the father of the Chinese Republic and the first President of South China, had been educated at Hong Kong University and two years before his death the great Chinese leader visited the colony. In an address to the students he said that he got his modern ideas, his revolutionary ideas, from Hong Kong, and he asked why it was that the English had done more in 30 years on the barren rock of Hong Kong than the Chinese had done in four thousand years.

100 Years of British Rule Sun Yat-sen never suggested that England should return Hong Kong to China. How could he? More than a hundred years ago, in 1841, Hong Kong was ceded to Great Britain as the result of the first war between the two countries, which had lived in peace since 1678 when the East India Company had established Britain's first commercial contacts with China.

Trade had developed and in the first quarter of the last century England and other foreign nations had established trading depots at Canton where there was a substantial British colony. They were not allowed, however, to appoint consular officers and China denied a status of international equality to any other nation.

After the Chinese had seized British merchandise and opium in Canton and held the entire British community—men, women and children—as hostages, an expedition was sent out from England. Using the barren rock of Hong Kong at the mouth of the Canton river as a base, the British community in Canton was released and the island itself ceded to Great Britain. This was confirmed in 1942 by the Treaty of Nanking which provided for the appointment of consular officials and the opening of foreign trade of the ports of Canton, Amoy, Foochow, Ningpo and Shanghai. The treaty also recognized that it was "desirable British subjects should have some port . . . to refit their ships when required and keep stores for that purpose."

Since then Hong Kong has become one of the greatest shipping centers in the world. It is the distributing center for about one-third of all the foreign trade of China. As many as 43,500,000 tons of shipping have entered and cleared its harbor in one year.

As the magnificent roadstead was open to attack from the mainland, Great Britain in 1898 obtained from China a 99-year lease on a strip of the mainland facing the island to a depth of 20 miles, which then far exceeded the range of the most powerful guns. By rule of law, the maintenance of peace and order and the absence of a customs tariff, this island of less than 32 square miles, has become the most important British outpost in Asia.

Bitterly Oppose Return

The question of returning the leased territories was first seriously raised at the Washington Conference in 1921. In refusing to surrender the territory on the mainland of China held by Great Britain under a 99-year lease that expires in 1998, Mr. Balfour, head of the British delegation said that without the leased territory Hong Kong would be at the mercy of artillery. He asserted that the safeguarding of the position of Hong Kong was not only a British

Locate 300 Of U. S. S. Houston

Survivors Of Vessel Sunk In 1942 In Camp

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Approximately 300 survivors of the old U. S. S. Houston have been located in a Japanese prison camp in Thailand, an officer of the office of strategic services disclosed Tuesday.

Lt. Col. Nicol Smith, who worked with underground forces of Thailand, told how the Houston survivors were found while detailing accounts of Thai underground activity to newsmen.

Two men who had been on the American heavy cruiser when it was lost to enemy action in 1942 act, just as in London any suggestion that Hong Kong should cease to form part of the British Empire is bitterly resented.

Smith, pre-war traveler and writer on southeast Asia, did not know the names of the two crew members. He said they were nearly dead on their arrival at Major Bartlett's camp as the result of exhaustion and exposure. The figure of 300 survivors is only an approximation, Smith emphasized, but he said: "Anyone having relatives on the crew of the Houston can be very optimistic."

The navy department announced the loss of the Houston March 14, 1942.

Injured As Auto Ran Into Ditch Murrell Hayden, 1701 West Sixteenth street, was injured about the head Tuesday evening at 6:40 o'clock when an Oldsmobile sedan he was driving went into a ditch about the 1300 block on State Fair boulevard. A cut on his head necessitated two stitches to close. He was taken to his home where Dr. A. L. Walter attended him.

Merry-Go-Round

By Herbert Bayard Swope
Former editor of the New York World and Public Relations Adviser to the Secretary of War.
NEW YORK, Aug. 29 — The Conservative defeat in England is not so striking a blow as some portray it. Unquestionably, there will be a trend toward socialization, but I think that this will be confined, at least for the next few years, to the natural monopolies — power, light, heat, transportation, communication (already in the state's hands except for cables) and, of course, mining, steel, and the bank of England. But much of this has been on their program for the last 25 years.

In fact, even the Lloyd George government gave support to the basic plan.
There will be a trend on the part of the radical movement in this country to affiliate itself with the British program. And I think there will be efforts to gain a wider and deeper association politically with Britain and Russia. But I do not discern any trend toward Communism.

Whatever Britain does will be done not by dictatorship, but under the rule of a true democracy. That characteristic saves it from becoming a repetition of Stalinism. After all, only two Communists were elected out of 27 who ran. That's not dangerous, even though the propagandists can — and do — claim 100 per cent increase! (The Communies had one member in the last house.)

No New Foreign Policy

I should doubt that there will be any decisive changes in foreign policy. Britain has consistently adhered to a pretty well formulated foreign policy for almost 300 years. However, it is reasonable to expect a greater sympathy on the part of the British foreign office for the movement left of center than with the kings and Tories the expiring government supported. An approach to self-government in India is to be expected.

I think foreign trade will become more international minded and more collective. I think it will move toward further cartelization. The question about British commerce growing will be dependent upon their raise of wage. Labor will drive for wider employment and higher pay. Probably it will take over many features of Beveridge's plan. To hold the British position in world markets will require subsidies. In other words, Britain will embark upon a species of protection.

Long Labor Rule

Attlee is a good man, overshadowed by his association with Churchill. My guess is that labor is in for a long run and, if there is any change it will be to displace Attlee for one of its own, such as Bevin or Morrison. As its name implies, this is a Labor victory, built in a democratic framework.

Unquestionably, the fact that Labor received a clear majority of all the votes, will tend to unify the country. I believe there in fact, we may be able to learn is nothing to fear from England, from this great experiment. My hope is that there will not be too great a limitation set upon free enterprise.

We should remember that Ramsay MacDonald's Labor government swung steadily to the right. In fact, it is axiomatic that the ins grow Conservative and the outs more radical.

That is happening in America right now. It wouldn't be surprising if the Republicans were gradually to move to the left, as against the conservatism of the southern Democracy.

THE STORY: Brock Kittridge, hero flyer, is coming home to Daverton. Thayer, the girl he had known for 10 days on his last leave and then married, nervously awaits his return.

"WHEN I marry," Thayer had said once to Amy, "I'm going to be sure—and it's going to be for keeps."

But now there was Brock. "You're what I want, Thayer. Ten days, 10 years—what's the difference? When you know, you know; nothing changes that." Not laughing now; deeply in earnest.

"The difference is, Brock, do we know?" Everything within her pulling her toward him, even while the deep steadiness that was part of her counseled caution. "You love me, don't you, Thayer?"

"I love you, Brock." Never more than now with his eyes serious and grave upon her. "It isn't that."

"Then what is it? I don't get it, Thayer. Things can't be half—not with us. You're my girl—it's as simple as that."

Hard to meet his eyes and go on saying the reasonable thing. "Brock, you want me now."

"You bet I want you." Standing there not touching her, yet by refraining holding her to him with something stronger than physical contact, a new maturity in his forbearance that moved her as nothing else could have, sent her heart into a side-slip.

They had driven out to Drumhead Hill, a rounded wooded knoll on the outskirts. They had got out of the car, above them the clear blue April sky. A man and a girl, the weight of their future pressing in upon them.

"Brock..."
"Thayer, I want to marry you; now—today. I want to think of you with my name, I want to know that you belong to me. I know there's the chance of my not coming back, but never the chance of my coming back with any different feeling for you." His eyes were searching hers; his hands came in an odd little defenseless gesture. "Darling—it's for always, can't you see?"

She went into his arms then. He did not kiss her at first, he held her. His cheek pressed against her own, as if nothing mattered but her nearness. Then slowly he moved his cheek until her mouth lay beneath his own. It was a long kiss and it held a tenderness that made tears burn behind her lids. Then, suddenly, her arms went about his neck, her palms were against the back of his head, pressing him closer. He kissed her again; she heard him whisper her name in a sort of exultation.

He was for carrying her off, then and there. She shook her head. "We must let your mother know, Brock. I wouldn't feel right if we didn't."

"Darling, mothers always oppose sudden change just as a matter of principle." Then, caught by her gaze, he said a little huskily, "Oh, I know you're right, Thayer." He drew her closer. "Always be right—for me." He kissed her. "My girl, my own girl—how'd I ever do it?"

April, 1942, Gas unrationed, and within two hours the road to Las Vegas unrolling swiftly beneath their impatient wheels.

THE little bedroom clock said 2.30.

Her living with Brock's mother was his idea. They returned from their short honeymoon to lunch

"Well," Aunt Hildreth had said, "so you're Thayer. ... You're very poor at description, Corinne," she added to her sister-in-law. They don't like each other, Thayer thought, watching them.

with Mrs. Kittridge, Judson Kittridge—Brock's uncle, and his wife Hildreth. Thayer had not met Hildreth before. The very antithesis of Brock's mother, she was tall and thin, possessed of penetrating hazel eyes in a strongly featured plain face.

"Well," she had said, "so you're Thayer." Her handclasp was firm, her gaze dazzling. "And you're very poor at description, Corinne," she added, to her sister-in-law.

"Why," fluttered Mrs. Kittridge charmingly, "I told you, Hildreth, that Thayer was pretty, that she had brown eyes..."

"You told me none of the things I'm finding out for myself," retorted Hildreth crisply. "What do I care for prettiness and brown eyes?" A quick warm smile illumined her face and she took Thayer's arm. "My dear, we took no intention of dissecting you. When I'm pleased I forget my manners."

It was an odd meal. Fascinated, Thayer watched the play between Aunt Hildreth and Mrs. Kittridge. They don't like each other, she thought, and then involuntarily, I like Aunt Hildreth. She watched the sharp clever face, so in contrast to Mrs. Kittridge's gentle beauty, and then she was aware of something: Mrs. Kittridge's smile kindled to warmth when it dwelt upon her son; her eyes caught no spark from it when they rested on anyone else. Only the tension of the moment enabled Thayer to have this discernment.

Afterward Brock and Thayer had driven out to Drumhead Hill, for tomorrow Brock would be leaving. Thayer had presented her views. "The war isn't going to last forever, Brock, and I'd rather be—on my own until you come back. I've told Miss Mary to hold my room."

"Hey," Brock said, pulling her over close to him. "I'm giving the orders. We Kittridges boss our women—all except Aunt Hildreth." He laughed, then sobered. "Why, Thayer, Mom's expecting you to stay. Didn't you see all the new chintz and stuff in the bedroom? She really went to town on it."

"Is it your room done over, Brock?"

"No, mine's next to Mom's; it could hardly hold me for all the junk I had in it."

ly once. That was Grant — and his presidency was a stench. Attlee's cabinet is a strong one and certainly as good as Churchill had.

There is an additional point, in connection with the English result, on which I should like to expatiate for just a moment.

We Won't Copy England

There is an insistent belief that the English elections are definitely an indication of how ours are going. While, unquestionably, the result shows a tendency, in reality there is nothing to warrant the belief that it is any more than such a tendency. Let's look at the record:

In 1908 to 1911, Lloyd George was beginning his successful campaign for vast social reforms in Britain. We remained conservative, electing Taft in 1908, and would have elected a Republican in 1912 had it not been for the Bull Moose split.

England went Liberal during the war, and thereafter, but we turned solidly to the right immediately after the war, while England, in the early 20s elected a Labor government. In 1923, when MacDonald got a plurality, we put our leadership in the hands of Calvin Coolidge.

In 1928 we elected Hoover, whereas, Labor won that year or the next in England.

In 1932 and 1936 we chose Roosevelt, whereas, England went completely conservative in 1936.

I believe, therefore, it is safe to conclude that the short time tendency in England reverses that of America.

England has been our political laboratory for many years, but sometimes there is a long time between the English experiment and American translation into practice.

Bolder U. S. Unions

The English result will embolden the demands of the unions — and there may be dynamite in that—because the returning soldier, at this moment, is pretty sore at union delays.

I think the deep explanation as to the outcome in England (although it may not appear upon the record) is that war-weariness, to which I refer above. The people want to end the pressure of war and entry the pleasures of peace.

One other thought in this connection:

In any war, we must be sure the victors do not take on the vices of the vanquished, while

You will see, from this screed, that I am not pessimistic. On the contrary, I think we in America are about to embark on a long voyage of prosperity, in which social changes will come; but they will come slowly and soundly.

Looking Backward

Forty Years Ago

Robbers broke into the depot, postoffice and Claus Junge and Schwald mercantile stores at Cole Camp early Monday morning. The heavy safe at Junge's hardware store was blown open. The robberies are supposed to have been committed by local persons and arrests probably will follow. Considerable clothing and a small amount of money were taken.

The young people of the Broadway Presbyterian church will give a social on the church lawn, corner of Broadway and Kentucky, Thursday evening. Ice cream and cake will be served to all who attend. A large orchestra, composed of some of Sedalia's prominent musicians, will be present and assist in making an enjoyable evening.

A granitoid sidewalk is being constructed in front of the John L. Hall building, No. 110 East Main street.

Noah P. Kemp, formerly special agent for the Wabash at Moberly, lately employed in a similar capacity by the Illinois Central at East St. Louis, has resigned his position and on September 1 will become special agent for the Missouri Pacific railway, making his headquarters at Sedalia, says Tuesday's Moberly Monitor.

Gripsholm Sails With 798 Deportees

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Aug. 29—(P)—The Swedish liner Gripsholm sailed Tuesday night for Italy and Greece with 1,340 passengers. Among them were 798 deportees, the largest number ever to be deported on one ship from this country.

Others aboard were missionaries, businessmen and teachers. The vessel also carried 500 tons of clothing and 10 trucks.

Missionaries aboard included Mr. and Mrs. Chester T. Hutcheson of Tarkio, Mo., of the United Presbyterian church.

Lem Martin Keeps Faith on the Home Front

Most popular man at the Old Settler's Picnic last week was Martin's boy, Henry, home from a Navy carrier in the Pacific and a first-rate job of shooting down Jap zeroes.

"The best thing about coming back," Henry said, "is to find that things are pretty much the same as they used to be. There's still the American spirit of give-and-take, of tolerance for the other fellow's right to make up his mind on big things—like politics—or little pleasures, such as deciding whether he'd rather have a bottle of beer or a glass of butter-milk."

From where I sit, it's this spirit of mutual understanding that will help to win the peace. For the man at home and the man at the front have kept faith with each other, each in his way fighting to preserve our priceless heritage of freedom.

So while your family is reading... playing games... sewing for war needs, remember to guard their eyes from strain with simple steps like these below.

How to help your eyes and avoid wasting light

Clean bulbs and bowls often!

Make full use of light you have!

Dust and dirt steal more light than you think. Wipe bulbs and reflectors with a damp cloth and you'll get as much as 25 to 30% more light.

By arranging furniture and lamps carefully, you can often make one lamp serve two or more people effectively. But be sure it isn't too far away from either! A difference of 12 inches can reduce the light you get by as much as 50%.

Home Runs Beat Both St. Louis Clubs

Dreams of World Series Fade a Little As Cubs and Tigers Romp Merrily On

By Jack Hand
Associated Press Sports Writer

St. Louis dreams of another Sportsman's Park world series appeared faded today with the winning streaks of the Cardinals and Browns broken while the Chicago Cubs and Detroit Tigers resumed their winning ways.

Failure of Billy Southworth's Red Birds to beat the second division clubs is haunting the defending world champs in their desperate stretch drive to overtake the front-running Bruins from Chicago.

While Charley Grimm's powerhouse has been able to flatten Cincinnati 17 out of 18 and drub the Phillies 15 out of 19, St. Louis has been held to an even break in 16 starts against Reds and has just eked out the last-place Phils 10 times in 18 contests.

Against the Reds, Braves, Phils and Pirates, Chicago has played 746 ball while the Cards have managed only a .549 pace. After six straight wins the champs were halted by Cincinnati last night, 3-2, by the slender margin of Eddie Miller's eighth inning home run off Reliefer Red Barrett, trying unsuccessfully to become the National's first 20-game winner.

Southworth gambled on Rookie Glen Gardner from Rochester to beat Cincinnati, perhaps hoping to conserve talent for the week-end series with Chicago. But Cincy got away in front, fought off the Birds' challenge after the score was tied and beat Billy's ace in the fireman role. Ed Heusser registered his 10th success at St. Louis' expense.

Grimm celebrated his 46th birthday in happy fashion by trimming Pittsburgh, 6-3, with the help of Peanuts Lowrey's 3-run homer off Fritz Ostermueller. Hank Borowy, the fellow who doesn't win in late summer according to Larry MacPhail, registered his fifth victory against two losses for the Cubs. By the combination of events Chicago's lead was stretched to 3 1/2 games.

Brooklyn took a firmer grasp on third place by a 7-1 romp over the Phils with Les Webber going to the relief of Art Herring who gave way to a shoulder ailment after two innings. Webber hung up his fifth success, four in a row since his recall from Montreal.

Hal Newhouser cooled off the Browns in the American League feature, 10-1, allowing only four hits on his way to his 21st victory. The lean Detroit left-hander struck out nine and coasted home with the help of some heavy home run thumping by Roy Cullenbine, Hank Greenburg and Bobby Maier.

Bobby Feller's second start for Cleveland lacked some of the dash of his first appearance but the fireball merchant had little trouble handcuffing Chicago, 8-2. The ex-sailor walked seven and struck out six White Sox, apparently easing off after homers by Dutch Meyer and Les Fleming gave him a safe working margin.

The New York Yankees continued to come on, running their new string to five by whipping Boston, 8-7. Walt Dubiel earned his fifth decision over the Red Sox with some late-inning help from Milkman Jim Turner.

Washington stuck on the tail light of the Tigers, 1 1/2 lengths behind on a 6-3 edge over Philadelphia, made possible by Rick Ferrell's ninth inning homer, his first of the season.

Ruth and Cobb Today

Babe Ruth and a bespectacled Ty Cobb meet again—as managers the All-American Boys' Game at Polo Grounds

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29—(P)—Distance may lend enchantment—but not to a guy who has to ride a great distance in a bus between night baseball games. . . That's the theory being followed by Arthur Ehlers, newly appointed minor league promotion director. . . As president of one of the "bus leagues"—the Interstate—Ehlers has a good idea of the importance of distance and he hopes to bring about a number of realignments when he gets around to reviving disbanded leagues and starting new ones.

Man Working—No Danger

Right now Ehlers' task is to get the suspended circuits going again and there's nothing much to be done when leagues that "protect" their territory want to keep it intact.

Looking Way Ahead

Once things are started again in all sections, Ehlers has some rather ambitious promotional plans. . . But he wants to work slowly to be sure that there are enough players to go around and that leagues don't spring up just to die down again. . . He already has sounded out the "farm" directors of various major and big minor clubs about a meeting at which they'll outline their needs and eventually he hopes to provide aid and incidental intelligence for small club business managers to help them operate their clubs successfully.

MoPac Eagles Win District Tournament

Defeat Sacred Heart 2 to 1; Will Play In State Tourney

The Missouri Pacific Eagles won the district softball tournament Tuesday night when they defeated the Sacred Heart softballers in the finals at Liberty park. It was a hard fought contest with a "nose out" being made by the Eagles to the tune of 2 to 1.

By virtue of winning the Eagles will be representing this district in the state tournament to be held in St. Joseph on Sunday and Labor day.

Victory Tuesday night brought to fifteen games the Eagles have won in a row. The season's record now stands at 24 victories against three defeats.

In the game Tuesday night the Eagles and Sacred Heart battled the first three innings scoreless, then a run was tallied in the top half of the fourth by the Shop team, only to have it tied in the lower half by Sacred Heart. Williams of the Eagles struck out in the fourth but was safe at first when Catcher Hundley missed the ball. Tomalynch retired the next two batters.

Shirley doubled to right field and Williams circled the bases from first to score. Then the Sacred Heart aggregation came back with Downing doubling to left field, advancing to third on a fielder's choice and scored as Lueck was being thrown out at first.

The winning run came in the seventh when Norman walked, advanced to second on a passed ball. Studer doubled to short center and Norman scored.

Tomalynch of the SAAF Gliders, loaned to the Sacred Heart team, was on the mound and pitched a good game, getting 14 strikeouts and issuing one base on balls, allowing two hits. Hyatt on the mound for the Eagles, pitched one of the best games of the season, getting eight strikeouts, allowing two hits. He had perfect control over the ball and did not issue any free trips to first.

Score: Eagles 000 100 1-2-2-1 Sacred Heart 000 100 0-1-2-2

"RIVERSIDES
didn't come on my car
I CHOSE THEM!"

"When we were in town Saturday, I happened to notice the number of parked cars that had Riverside tires. Farmers' cars, like mine. And I got to wondering if all those men had switched to Riversides for the same reasons I did. 'Cause you know, Jim, none of those Riversides came on those cars!'"

The American farmer is typical of the millions of car-owners, city and country-folk alike, who replaced their "original equipment" tires with Riversides. He, like you, wants a tire that gives him the most for his money; long wear on rugged roads! Riversides give you more miles-per-dollar!

BOWEL CLEANING POWER OF ERB-HELP MEDICINE

One man recently took ERB-HELP three days and said afterward that he never would have believed his body contained so much filthy substance. He says his stomach, intestines, bowels and whole system were so thoroughly cleansed that his constant headaches came to an end, several pimply skin eruptions on his face dried up overnight, and even the rheumatic pains in his knee disappeared. At present he is an altogether different man, feeling fine in every way.

ERB-HELP contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering. Get ERB-HELP! Sold by all Drug Stores here in Sedalia.—Adv.

F. V. Heinkel Is Again Head Of The M. F. A.

Eleven Directors Elected for Three Years Terms

F. V. Heinkel, of Robertsville, was re-elected president of the Missouri Farmers Association at its 27th annual meeting held here Tuesday on the Missouri State Fair grounds. Roy D. Hatcher, Shelbyville, was elected vice-president. Directors elected for a period of three years are: A. C. Kreisel, Lincoln; Virgil Zahn, Marshall; Charles Morrison, West Plains; Wayne Jones, Cabool; Charles Meals, Moberly; Glennon Wilson, Sheridan; Lee M. Seaman, Ethel; Priest Etter, Eterville; L. H. Mooney, Rogersville; L. O. Wallis Springfield; Joseph Lischwe, Dixon.

There were about 3,000 in attendance at the MFA, Missouri Progressive Farm Women's meeting and the Junior Farmers Association meeting.

During the business session today R. J. Rosier, secretary, announced the membership has hit a new high, a number in excess of 95,000.

Uphold End Of Burden Of War

Resolutions passed included: Pride in upholding their share of the credit in upholding the state's end of the burden of war. They called upon the president, secretary of agriculture and congress to gradually eliminate subsidies while farm prices are still relatively high, and demanded they take such steps as may be necessary to insure the farmers an equitable price for their products.

Recommended organizing more local cooperatives, to enhance the benefits already being obtained by the membership through cooperative efforts.

They believe the state of Missouri will be greatly harmed by the provisions of the present flood control law, which provides for the construction of 25 high dams in Missouri that will inundate some 900,000 acres of land without generating any appreciable amount of electric power, and which will mean the condemnation of at least half of the fertile river bottom land from one end of the state to the other. They instructed the MFA's state legislative committee to ascertain how Missouri congressmen and senators voted on the flood control act, as well as their views toward the bill introduced by Sen. Murray, of Montana in the senate and the one introduced by Congressman Cochran, in the House, which provide for the establishment of a Missouri Valley Authority, so this information may be given to members through their own publication.

For Safeguard of Interests

They hold this nation should always maintain sufficient forces to safeguard our interests throughout the world, and suggest that a voluntary force of sufficient size can be maintained without resorting to peace-time conscription, which would be a measure without parallel in the history of the United States.

They urge it is imperative to Missouri agriculture that House Bill 214, which provides state-aid to counties for the construction of county roads, which has passed the House, be speedily enacted by the Senate.

It is their belief that the two-house legislative system is maintained.

Urge Congress to restore regular standard time.

Urge Congress to give attention to the use of farm crops in the production of synthetic rubber.

Advise adopting the balanced farming program evolved by the Missouri College of Agriculture, expand cooperative processing and marketing facilities, the com-

He Made Jump Across Rhine

Pfc. William Bergmann, a paratrooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bergmann, 714 East Eighteenth street, while making the jump across the Rhine late in March was struck by flak which exploded phosphorous grenades on his pistol belt, and was saved from serious burns when he landed in a water ditch, he related today in discussing his experiences while serving with the 17th airborne division.

Oil Companies Meet

A reorganization meeting was held this morning at the coliseum at which time the MFA Oil Co. was reorganized from a stock cooperative to a non-stock cooperative. The MFA Refining Co. also announced a merger with the MFA Oil Co. The refinery is located at Chanute, Kas.

Good Attendance

Also for the first time a full delegation came to the convention from Boone county. Heretofore the Boone county delegates were employees of the MFA. The county itself is being completely organized. Among this delegation is John Sam Williams, who is vice president of the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation. Also J. W. Birch, director of the extension department of the Missouri College of Agriculture at Columbia, and Dr. W. E. Etheridge, chairman of the field crop department of the Missouri College of Agriculture.

Celebrates on Bended Knees

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cramer, 621 West Fifteenth street, have received a letter from their son, J. M. Cramer, Jr., who is stationed in Manila, and tells how he and other boys received the news of the end of the war over there. The letter in part follows:

"The old war has finally ended but I can't seem to write any more now than before. It's true that a great strain and burden have been lifted from me, as it has from every one, and I'm happy because of it.

"I didn't shout and fire my gun as many others did, when the news was received, but I rejoiced in my own way as I knew you all at home were doing with me, on bended knees, thanking God that it's all over except the sweating out my turn to come home, which isn't hard to do now.

"There isn't much light on the subject of coming home but I've got a feeling I'll get to be home for Christmas again. It's sure been a long time since I spent Christmas at home. It was 1941. My wife and I haven't had a Christmas together yet.

"There really isn't much to write about. The biggest part of our prayers, hopes and dreams have been answered and it's only a matter of waiting now, which is tiresome on ones nerves, even though it's a hundred percent less than it was before the war ended."

Mr. and Mrs. Cramer have another son, Truman D. Cramer, who is expected to arrive soon from the European theatre. He entered service on September 4, 1940, enlisting on his 21st birthday.

PIN-WORMS GO! New Treatment Gets Real Results

People don't like to talk about Pin-Worm infection. Sometimes they are too embarrassed to mention the tormenting rectal itching. And in many cases they have not known of any effective way to deal with this pest that lives inside the human body. Today, thanks to a special, medically recognized drug (gentian violet), a highly effective treatment has been made possible. This drug is the vital ingredient in P.W., the Pin-Worm tablets developed in the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son. The small, easy-to-take P.W. tablets act in a special way to remove Pin-Worms. So if you suspect Pin-Worms in your child or yourself, ask your druggist for a package of JAYNE'S P.W. right away, and follow the directions. Satisfaction guaranteed or your money back. It's easy to remember: P-W for Pin-Worms!

He Made Jump Across Rhine

Overseas for eight months, the 19-year-old paratrooper is now attached to the 13th airborne division which will reassemble at Camp Mackall, N. C. Pfc. Bergmann landed in New York last Wednesday and arrived in Sedalia Saturday night on a 32-day furlough.

In addition to the Purple Heart, Bergmann wears three battle stars for the Ardennes, Rhineland and Central Europe engagements. A graduate of Smith-Cotton high school, he has been in service 14 months, taking his basic training at Camp Blanding Fla., and his jump training at Ft. Benning, Ga.
